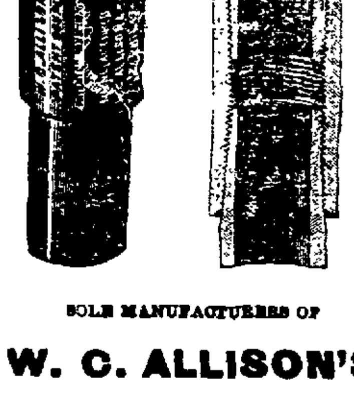
Tubing & Casing
Both Plain and Galvanized, for Oil and Salt Wells, American Charcoal Iron Boiler Tubes, Lap Welded Tubing for Steam and Water.



SOLE MANUFACTURERS OF
W. C. ALLISON'S
PATENT JOINT
Oil Well Tubing.
This Superior Tubing is furnished with heavy sockets, and is cut with a vanishing screw thread, corresponding exactly with the thread in the socket, so that when screwed up it has a bearing the whole length of the joint; and the absence of a deep thread on the tube at the end of the socket obviates the liability to break at that point from the vibration caused by the action of the pump.
Each length and socket is stamped with our trade mark, and is carefully tested before shipment with a hydraulic pressure of 1,300 pounds to the square inch.

Titusville Morning Herald.

Address of Postmaster General Cresswell at the Laying of the Corner-Stone of the New Post-office, Boston, Oct. 16, 1871.

FELLOW-CITIZENS: Nothing more clearly illustrates the governing power and intelligence of the people than the development of the post-office establishment. The extent and completeness of the system in every age have been commensurate with the wants and influence of the masses; indeed, I may say there never was a post-office, worthy the name, until the people became potential in government.

THE POSTS OF THE ANCIENTS NOT FOR THE PUBLIC BENEFIT.

In the book of Esther we read that King Ahasuerus sent letters into his many provinces, making known his command "That every man should bear rule in his own house," and that afterward when Haman, the grand cyclops of the Ku Klux of that day, had determined upon the death of all the Jews, because Mordecai would not bow down to him, the royal edict was forwarded to every point in the kingdom, from India even unto Ethiopia by posts, which were hastened by special order. It is also stated, that the subsequent decree, granting to the Jews the right to defend themselves, and the letters of Mordecai concerning it, were sent by "posts on horseback, and riders on mules, camels, and young dromedaries." It is plain, however, from the account of the sacred writer, that King Ahasuerus was a despot, regardless alike of the rights of women and men, and that he established his posts solely for the purposes of his imperial government and with no intention of accommodating the private correspondence of his subjects. Public posts were not used by the Greeks or Romans, nor indeed by modern nations until established in the thirteenth century by that federation of republics known as the Hanse-towns, the first nursery of an enlightened public sentiment in Northern Europe.

THE ENGLISH POST-OFFICE.

The growth of the English post-office has been slow. First organized as a public institution under James I., it has fought every step of its way against royal prerogative, bearing often the most oppressive burdens in the shape of pensions to favorites and mistresses. As the rights and wants of the people have been more clearly recognized, concessions have been reluctantly made, until in 1830 Rowland Hill, summoning to his aid the irresistible power of the Commons, achieves a reform which ranks him among the benefactors of his race. From that day the march of the post-office in every civilized country has been steadily onward. Even under monarchical governments the people have insisted upon their right to its services, and have succeeded in dictating its policy. So great has been its success in England that Lord Macaulay has declared with pardonable exultation, "Our English post-office is a splendid triumph of civilization."

THE POST-OFFICE IN THE UNITED STATES.

In this country the relations of the people with the post-office are more intimate than with any other branch of the government. They pay directly for its services, come personally in contact with its officers, and claim an immediate interest in its operations. The great extent of our sparsely-populated territory and the neglect of education in some portions of the country, particularly in the south and southwest, have impeded the improvement and cheapening of postal intercourse. Railroads and free schools are now clearing the way of these formidable obstacles. When the blessings of education shall be extended to all alike, the number of those who seek the aid of the post-office will be greatly increased. The department in turn will find a profit in winning the confidence and patronage of all who may need its services. By multiplying facilities and cheapening rates, it will awaken the multitude of the poorer and less intelligent of the people to an appreciation of its advantages:

"And force them though it was in spite
Of nature and their stars, to write."

And I might add to the words of Hudibras, a financial consideration of no little moment, pay their own postage in advance.

WHAT WAS DONE DURING THE LAST YEAR

Having conceded when first intrusted with the administration of the post-office department that the people should be satisfied with nothing less than the best and cheapest service, I deem the present a fit opportunity to make known what has been accomplished during the last three years.

The number of letters transported and delivered during the year ended 30th June last, exceeds 640,000,000, and it is estimated that the newspaper and miscellaneous mails disposed of were ten times greater in both weight and bulk than the letter mails.

THE FORCE EMPLOYED.

In the discharge of these arduous labors there were in the postal service at the end of the last fiscal year, 43,954 persons, scattered over every part of the national domain, from Sitka to Key West, and from San Diego to the St. Johns, who were classified as follows:

I. In the department proper:

Postmaster General	1
Assistant Postmaster General	3
Superintendent of foreign mails	1
Superintendent of money order office	1
Chief division (dead letter)	1
Chief clerk of the department	1
Chief clerks of bureaus	4
Clerks, laborers, watchmen	331
Total	319

II. In the local service:

Postmasters	30,045
Contractors	7,286
Clerks in Post-offices	3,439
Letter carriers	1,419
Route agents	684
Railway postal clerks	513
Mail route messengers	103
Local agents	61
Special agents	52
	43,623

Making a total of 43,954, or 13,323 more than the whole army of the United States, officers and enlisted men. Of 30,045 post-offices in operation, 2,076 were money-order officers, 1,172 were filled by appointment of the President, and 28,873 by appointment of the Postmaster-General.

COMPARISON OF 1871 WITH 1868.

On the 30th of June, 1868, there were in operation 26,481 post-offices, of which 849 were filled by the President and 25,632 by the Postmaster-General, and 1,468 were money-order offices. At the same time the department had 490 route agents, 54 mail route messengers, 232 railway post-office clerks, and 69 local agents. There was an increase in three years of 3,564 post-offices, of 323 were filled by appointment of the President, and 3,241 by appointment of the Postmaster-General; 608 money-order offices, 194 route agents, 40 mail route messengers, 281 railway post-office clerks and 13 local agents. In 1871 there were in operation 238,359 miles of mail routes of all kinds, apportioned as follows: 168,191 miles of route other than steamboat and railway routes, costing $5,027,473; 20,334 miles of steamboat routes, costing $776,943 and 49,834 miles of railway routes, costing $5,724,979. In 1868 there were in operation 216,928 miles of mail routes of all kinds, apportioned in the manner following: 161,263 miles of route other than steamboat and railway routes, costing $5,438,299; 19,647 miles of steamboat routes, costing $650,631, and 36,018 miles of railway routes, costing $4,177,126—showing an increase in three years of 21,431 miles in the total length of routes, with the following exhibit in detail: 6,928 miles of routes other than steamboat and railway routes, with a decrease in cost of $410,826; 687 miles of steamboat routes, with an increase in cost of $126,312, and 13,816 miles of railway routes, with an increase in cost of $1,547,853.

In 1871 the total annual transportation on routes other than steamboat and railway amounted to 47,330,968 miles, on steamboat routes to 4,684,778 miles, on railroad routes to 55,557,048 miles, making an aggregate annual transportation by all routes of 107,572,794 miles, at a cost of $11,529,395. In 1868 the total annual transportation on routes other than steamboat and railway amounted to 45,540,587 miles, on steamboat routes to 3,797,560 miles, on railway routes to 34,886,173 miles, making the annual aggregate transportation of all routes 84,224,325 miles, at a cost of $10,266,056; showing an increase in annual transportation of 1,789,381 miles on routes other than steamboat and railway, 887,218 miles on steamboat routes, 20,671,870 on railway routes, and an aggregate of 23,384,469 miles on all routes, at an increased cost of $1,263,339. For the year 1868 the ordinary revenues were $16,292,600 80, and the expenditures $22,730,592 65, showing an excess of expenditures of $6,437,991 85. The amount of money orders issued was $16,187,858 47.

For the year ended June 30, 1871, the ordinary revenues were $20,370,045 42, and all expenditures $24,390,104 08, showing an excess of expenditures of $4,353,058 66. The amount of money-orders issued was $43,164,118 03.

Summing up these comparisons of 1871 with 1868, it appears that in three years the increase of post-offices amounted to 13 per cent., the increase of ordinary receipts to 28 per cent., the increase of the aggregate amount of transportation to 28 per cent., the increase of the money-order business to 260 per cent., and the increase of expenditures to less than 7 3-10 per cent.

DEFICIENCIES FOR FOUR YEARS PAST.

For the last four years the deficiencies, after deducting from the expenditures of each year the annual appropriation for free matter and special steamship subsidies, are:

For 1868	$5,462,991 85
For 1869	3,970,287 45
For 1870	2,814,116 98
For 1871	2,926,458 66

The appropriation for the deficiency for the last year was $4,685,032, of which $1,650,000 were expended. For the last three years there were appropriated in the aggregate for deficiences $14,987,532, of which only $8,262,500 were expended, thus leaving in the treasury from the deficiency voted for the last three years $6,725,032.

REDUCTION OF POSTAGE TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

Within the three years past letter postage between all points in the United States and all points in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland has been reduced from 24 to 6 cents, and equal reductions have been effected within the same period in postage rates between the United States and Germany, the single rate of letters exchanged by the way of England having been reduced from 30 to 7 cents, and by letters sent by direct steamers from 15 to 6 cents, thus making practicable a proportionable reduction to all countries to which Great Britain and Germany respectively serve as intermediates.

MONEY-ORDER SYSTEM WITH GREAT BRITAIN AND GERMANY.

Our experience with Switzerland having demonstrated the feasibility and utility of transmitting money between the citizens of different countries by the intervention of their respective post-office departments, conventions have recently been concluded by which money orders may be transmitted between our people and residents of Great Britain and Germany with celerity and absolute security.

POSTAL NEGOTIATIONS WITH FOREIGN NATIONS AND THEIR EFFECT.

Negotiations which promise a like reduction of postage and other ameliorations are also on foot with the Scandinavian and other countries. The facilities already secured can not fail to cultivate the most intimate relations among at least 100,000,000 of the most enlightened of the population of the earth, and thus invite to our hospitable shores a greatly increased immigration. In making these new arrangements, the postal departments concerned are not responding merely to the demands of business—they are equally providing for the scientific, literary, social and religious brotherhood of nations.

THE FUTURE OF THE AMERICAN POST-OFFICE

With so much accomplished in the past, who can predict the future? We are now 40,000,000. We are adding to our population at the rate of one and a third millions per year. Before the present generation shall have passed away the population of the United States will number 100,000,000 of the best educated and most enterprising people on earth. Here all the intellect in the land will be developed by universal free education; mind will be sharpened by intellectual conflicts; invention will be quickened and science, known to us but as an untutored maid, will become the vivifying mother of a thousand gigantic powers which now lie dormant in the bosom of nature. Subtile forces that outstrip the winds and run in advance of the winged hours are already at our command. Steam and caloric and pneumatics and electricity are vieing with each other in their contributions to civilization. We must accept and utilize them all. We must employ them in due time as God's agents for the elevation and advancement of the human race. The speeding post borne upon the seal of the post-office department is the emblem of progress. We can not retrograde, nor yet stand still. Our duty is clear, to labor unceasingly to provide and maintain for the people of the United States the most perfect system of communication known among men.

THE ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH—SHALL IT BECOME A PART OF OUR POSTAL SYSTEM?

The question of the appropriation of the electric telegraph and its dedication to public use has been definitely settled by the recent successes of foreign nations. It is now simply a problem of finance. And to whom can that be better submitted than to Massachusetts? She can speak authoritatively of her own trusted representatives, who now guard the public treasury with ever-watchful eyes. She can point with exulting pride to the first organizer and intelligent chief of the post-office in America, of whom was truthfully written that noble line of modern Latinity:—

"Eripuit cœlo fulmen, sceptrumque tyrannis," and demand that the mysterious agent, which she, in the person of her son, subdued and plucked from the heavens, shall become henceforth a public servant and be guided by the sceptre in the hands of the people.

THE LAYING OF THE CORNER-STONE.

As a citizen of the United States, from distant Maryland, I gaze, not without emotion, upon that grand column, which rises from earth high toward heaven, in commemoration of the glorious deeds done on Bunker Hill nearly 100 years ago. From infancy I have been taught to venerate the memory of those who nobly fought and fell upon that consecrated spot. The names of Warren, and Parker, and Gardner, and Moore and McCleary, the immortal dead, and Prescott and Putnam and their associates, whom sated slaughter spared for other holy work, have stirred more American hearts to patriotic sacrifice than all the heroes and demi-gods of mythologic story and classic song. Thousands who now sleep quietly beneath the dark and bloody fields of the rebellion drew from their example the soul-inspiring lesson, that

"There is a victory in dying well
For freedom."

Here, then, deep in the soil of glorious Massachusetts, almost upon the spot where Benjamin Franklin first looked upon the light of day, and with hearts full of gratitude to the sages and heroes who by their labors and sacrifices made possible the liberties we now enjoy, we may well lay the corner-stone of this imposing edifice. Let it rise as a monument of the all-pervading beneficence of the republic. Let those who are charged with its construction see to it that it shall be worthy of our own times and equal in its extent and appointments to all the reasonable demands of the future. May the light of peace and the spirit of brotherly love rest upon it and consecrate it forever to the diversified pursuits of the brave sons and loving daughters of New England—and may we be able to conduct in such manner the service, which this structure is intended for the most part to promote, that the people everywhere will accept and gladly retain it as their faithful friend and ally in every good work. But more than all, may the great government, which appears here to-day to bless you with a generous hand, be so administered by him who now presides over it that the men of coming ages, when they turn to the history of these times, may read on one page the brilliant record of his military achievements, and on another the less imposing though equally beneficent triumphs of his civil career, and say there is also

"A victory in living well
For freedom."

MORMONS AND THEIR WIVES—BRIGHAM'S LATEST CAPTURES—A PROPHET PLAYING THE "CURLED DARLING."

Salt Lake Correspondence of the N. Y. Sun.

George Q. Cannon has three wives, and the third of them he has taken since the passage of the anti-polygamic statute. Furthermore, it is commonly known as any fact is known to the community that Brigham Young has delegated Cannon to "seal" the polygamic marriages in this city for the last five years. He has "sealed" thousands of women to married men during that time. He would be a love juror when a case of polygamy was before the court.

Townsend, another of the rejected, is the grufly, stupid old man who keeps the Townsend House, where all the religious travelers from the East prefer to bring their wives and daughters. At home they lift up their hands in holy horror at such degradation, and would tell a Mormon to stand afar off; but here they roll in the luxury of a polygamic seraglio, and enjoy it because old Townsend has fine cooling trees before his hotel. Up to a very few months, he, too, had three wives; but, fortunately for her, his "old woman" died, and now No. 2 runs the hotel. While the old lady lived she might be seen every forenoon carrying the pail and scrubbing-brush of the chambermaid and maid-of-all work, passing through the corridor and from room to room, pale, emaciated and haggard, while the old boar was paying his lascivious visits to No. 3, a who had increased his posterity, and in the afternoons, to keep peace in the hotel for the forenoon visits, he was to be seen driving out No. 2 in a buggy.

Another juror who was rejected, is no less than a double son-in-law of Brigham Young, his factotum and general scavenger. Clawson, openly and defiantly, not long ago married his fourth wife, who was the daughter direct of Brigham Young, by one of the "proxy" wives of the deceased prophet, Joseph Smith.

Brigham, in the fullness of his glory, was reckless. When he saw a woman that filled his eye, it made no difference who stood in his way. For ten years he had taken no extra wife, and seemed to all appearance contented with the number that he had; but none of his wives were accomplished. They were plain in manners, like himself, and unpretentious; good housekeepers and excellent mothers. When the army encamped here in 1858, and he made some money by selling to them privately, while he publicly forbade the people to do the same thing, he began to get uplifted. Soon after, among the emigrants came a rather old Miss Amelia Folsom, from Council Bluffs, Iowa. She was the attraction at the social parties during the first winter, as she could sing and play the piano.

BRIGHAM FANCIED HER.

A young man here was paying attention to her. Brigham gave him a mission and it nigh broke his heart. This Miss Folsom had another string to her bow left in Council Bluffs. He came on and wanted to marry her, and she wanted him; but Brigham held her with a revelation. It had been revealed to him that she should marry him. A long courtship and the foolish old man's carriage stood hours every day before Miss Folsom's door.

Three different times were set for their marriage. Three times the "endowment house" was warmed up in the winter for the ceremony, and each time she disappointed him. Finally, afraid of "the Lord's displeasure," Miss Folsom consented.

THE OLD FOOL AS A DANDY.

Since that time the man who wore homespun, who preached against fashion and the vanity of the world, has become as gay and fashionable as his years permit. He has a barber call every morning to shave him, and curl his hair and perfume him up, and he wears the best and finest broadcloth; and while his other wives maintain their former plain attire, Amelia has the richest silks and brocades that can be imported. With it all, she is dissatisfied, and leads the prophet wherever she has a mind to, and snubs him unmercifully. She makes a perfect laughing stock of him.

She supposed that she was to be the last and favorite wife; but Brigham saw two blooming grass widows and married them, and, to the terrible chagrin of favorite Amelia, one of them has brought the Prophet a daughter. Of all the gossipy towns on the face of the earth, this holds the palm, and the gossip about the young daughter is frightful. Amelia has circulated the most scandalous stories about old age and infirmity, and questions paternity. The other young wife is a black-eyed, quick, smart girl, that seems to care nothing for him, and enjoys herself hugely. Some of these are certain to bring trouble upon him if summoned to court, and if he is indicted they assuredly will appear in court.

THE DOOM OF THE PROPHET.

"Bill" Hickmon, a notorious Danite, a vile murderer, and a dirty scoundrel, has divulged to the United States Marshal and the United States District Attorney the murders that he had committed, and in which he implicates Brigham as accessory, both before and after the fact. Hickman, aware of the penalty of his crimes, is trembling like a miserable coward, and says that he will tell all if they will only spare his life—that he does not want to die.

Good Templars.

NORTH-WESTERN DISTRICT CONVENTION AT TIDIOUTE.

The eighth semi-annual Convention, Independent Order of Good Templars, of the Northwestern District of Pennsylvania, met pursuant to call, at Tidioute, Tuesday, October 17 h, and continued in session two days.

The following officers were present:

J. M. Sharp, Oil City, W. C. T.; A. M. Martin, Corry, W. Secretary; Mrs. S. S. Benedict, Pleasantville, W. T; Miss Mollie A. Lewis, Meadville, W. Assistant Secretary; Miss Clara Waters, Warren, W. R. H. S; Miss E A. Watson, Tidionte, W. I. G; F. M. Green, Oil City, W. O. G.

The appointment of committees and the reading and approval of the minutes of the last session were proceeded with in the usual manner.

Reports from Lodges were then received. Twenty-three Lodges and one Temple were represented, and the reports read showed generally a steady and encouraging advancement of the order in the district. The Lodges represented are located in the counties of Erie, Warren, Venango, Crawford, Cameron and Forest.

On Tuesday evening, after the formal adjournment of the convention, a special meeting was held for the purpose of discussing the subject of the formation of a temperance political party, independent of the present existing temperance societies. The discussion was animated, and was characterized by much earnestness. At the close a vote was taken, and the expression was unanimous, with but two exceptions, in favor of the formation of a political temperance party.

On the second day of the session, after a full and free discussion, the convention passed the following resolution, by a rising vote of forty eight in favor to five against:

Resolved, That we hereby adopt the platform of the National Prohibition Party, and do pledge our earnest support to the same.

The following, reported by the committee on resolutions, were adopted:

Whereas, The members of this convention, in some instances, have shown a lamentable ignorance with regard to the workings of the great temperance element in this state; and,

Whereas, The temperance press is the best means of which we know to disseminate temperance doctrines and to educate the people in temperance principles; therefore,

Resolved, That we recommend all Good Templars to support the Keystone Good Templar by immediately subscribing for it, and circulating one or more copies in their respective localities.

Whereas, We are met here in convention to devise means to promote the highest interests of the temperance cause; and,

Whereas, We believe such interests can be greatly advanced by a more thorough education of our youth in temperance principles, therefore,

Resolved, That we earnestly recommend the immediate organization of cold water temples for the young, in connection with our lodges in this order, where such temples do not now exist.

Resolved, That our official organ, the Keystone Good Templar, in supporting prohibition takes the only stand that any temperance paper consistently can take, and we will pledge our support to the paper, and those who edit it, so long as they advocate legal prohibition and moral suasion as the means for furthering the ends for which we are laboring.

Resolved, That the action of the Grand Lodge officers having in charge the calling of the special session of the Grand Lodge in Philadelphia, meets with the disapproval of this convention, and the officers with its censure, in that the call was not issued in time for every Lodge in the state to receive and act upon the same before the meeting of the Grand Lodge, and that the call was used in the furtherence of political schemes inconsistent with the organization of this order.

Resolved, That this convention urge upon the Grand Lodge at its next meeting the necessity of earnest and immediate action with reference to changing, remodeling and reforming our constitution and ritual service, to the end that every part of our system which experience has shown to work disadvantageously to the order, may be removed.

Resolved, That this convention tender their thanks to the Oil Creek & Allegheny River and the Atlantic & Great Western Railroad companies for returning delegates to their homes free of charge, and to the Philadelphia & Erie Railroad company for furnishing excursion tickets to delegates at reduced rates.

Resolved, That the thanks of this Convention are due to the citizens of Tidioute for the hospitable and liberal manner in which they have entertained delegates free of charge.

Resolved, That our thanks be and are hereby tendered to Brother A. M. Martin, for his very accurate and full printed report of the proceedings of our last convention, held at Meadville, for his untiring and successful efforts in securing reduced railroad fare to delegates, and for his attentive care to the interests of the convention generally.

Resolved, That our thanks are also tendered to Brother J. M. Sharp for his efficient services as Worthy Chief Templar of this convention.

The following officers were elected and appointed for the ensuing year:

J. M. Sharp, Oil City, W. C. T; A. M. Martin, Corry, W. Secretary; Mrs. S. S. Benedict, Pleasantville, W. T.; Miss Flora White, Garland, W. V. T.; J. H. Douglas, Tidionte, W. M; Miss F. D. Kinnear, Youngsville, W. I. G.; F. M. Green, Oil City, W. O. G.; J. Winans, Tionesta, P. W. C. T; Rev. L. S. Crouse, Sinnemahoning, W. C; Miss Mollie A. Lewis, Meadville, W. Ass't Secretary; Miss Ellen S. Southworth, Centreville, W. D. M.; Miss Clara Walters, Warren, W. R. H. S; Miss Callie Mead, Youngsville, W. L H. S.

Committee on By-Laws:—G. W. Brown, Youngsville; W. C. Arp, Warren; D. D Fassett, Tidionte.

The convention adjourned to meet at Oil City, in April next, the day to be fixed hereafter by the officers.

A. M. Martin,
Secretary.

Sensible Words About Advertising.

The following is from the financial article of the Journal of Commerce, New York:

"People who sit nervously in countinghouses, or behind their goods, waiting for customers to take them by storm, and making no effort to let the world know the bargains they have to offer, will find the season unpropitious. Many of those who have spent large sums in hiring draughtsmen and paying for other well known appliances of trade, have effected large sales but swallowed up too large a share of the receipts in such enormous attendant expenses. The best remuneration has been found by those who have returned to more legitimate old-fashioned methods of pushing their business. We say it, not simply because we are interested in this line of expenditure, but as advice to all who wish to be enterprising and to secure a larger custom, there is nothing now so effective to this end as judicious advertising. A little advertising may be like a gentle touch of the whip to poor Dobbin's horse, "a mercy thrown away," but a liberal outlay is almost certain to bring in a large return, and this will last even beyond the current season. We do not believe that any one who has valuable service or desirable property to offer can fail of reaping a rich harvest by continuous advertising on a large scale."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.

The Collector of Customs at Gloucester has officially notified the Secretary of the Treasury of the seizure of the schooner Edward Burton by the Dominion cutter Sweepstakes, for an alleged violation of the Canadian fishery laws. The owner went to Grayboro to look after his vessel, and found her lying at the wharf. He quietly and peaceably took possession of his vessel and sailed for Gloucester. There is being a condemnation of the vessel held by English courts.

Solicitor Banfill decides that the steamboat laws require an inspection certificate stating the number of passengers that any steamer except ferry boats can accommodate. A greater number is not allowed. He suggests the enforcement of these requirements.

The rooms of the United States and British Commission have been neatly furnished and apartments designated for the court commissioners and secretary of the commission are now prepared for business, but the session will not be resumed until the fifth of November. In the meantime instruction and necessary blanks will be furnished to all who may desire them.

The board of steamboat supervising inspectors were yesterday occupied in discussing and examining life preserving apparatus.

Advices received here from South Carolina state that at Spartanaburg, Wednesday evening last, a Ku Klux department, consisting of the chief and twenty members, surrendered to United States Marshal Johnson with their arms and disguises. Up to Friday morning seventy arrests had been made in the vicinity of that town alone. Spartanburg is known to be the headquarters for that Congressional District. Arrests have been made in other counties, but the number is not known here. Attorney-General Akerman is still with Col. Merrill. A number of well-known citizens are missing, including Lyle, member of the legislature, who is reported to be chief of the Klan for that district. Among those who have disappeared are two or three clergymen known for their strong rebel proclivities. The officers of the law are proceeding steadily with their work, and before arrests are made they will be affirmed and show an existence of a deep and wide conspiracy against the state, the laws and all who sustain them. Most of the Ku Klux refugees are known to have fled to Georgia, where the order is quite strong. The Grand Cyclops for that state is believed to be the son-in-law of Robert Toombs.

President Grant has returned.

In connection with the Hodge defalcation, statements were recently made which do injustice to Major Paulding, formerly paymaster in the army, who in 1866 was tried for alleged violation of an order in having transferred his deposits from the First National Bank to the Merchants' National, which institution soon after failed, the government loosing the entire amount of money. Instead of having been tried for defaulting, he was, according to the finding of the court, especially exonerated from having any personal motive in making the transfer. Neither is it true that he was ever in the penitentiary, nor did the court's sentence so remand him. He was ordered to a military prison for a year and was in Fort McHenry for three months, when he was released by order of Secretary Stanton. Had it been thought his action in the removal of the deposit was anything more than an error or judgment, it seems quite certain the penalty for the loss of $275,000 would have been something more than the one imposed, which was merely nominal confinement within the grounds of the garrison on parade. It was shown that he never used for private purposes a dollar of the $10,000,000 entrusted to him, and went out of office poorer than he was when he entered the service.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.

Henry A. Grenabaum, a leading Israelite and president of the German National bank, has received from the leading Israelites and Israelite associations in the country liberal contributions for the relief for their co-religionists and their religious denominations in this city. Contributions have come from Peru, Indiana; Elmira, New York, Titusville, Pennsylvania; Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Cleveland, etc. Mr. Grenabaum will give his attention to the proper distribution of these charitable offerings. Immediately after the fire the daily applications for relief numbered about forty thousand. Since that time the number has diminished from day to day until there is now only about twenty-five thousand daily applicants for relief. The shelter committee thus far have received about 2,400 applications for lumber with which to put up small houses for homeless families and about 1,300 of those applicants have, up to this time, been supplied with lumber contributed by lumber dealers and others, which is being framed into houses.

There is considerable excitement over the shooting, by a sentry, of Colonel Grosvenor. The young man who committed the deed is named Theodore N. He belonged to the First Regiment Chicago Volunteers, and claims to have acted in accordance with orders.

The relief committees made their reports last evening and they show a favorable condition of affairs. The employment society report that the demand for laborers is larger than the supply. The Health Committee report the health of the city fair, although during the last two or three days there has been some increase in sickness, diarrhœa and dysentery being the principal diseases. The call for transportation from those who are anxious to leave the city is now small. The department for the distribution of supplies is in a gratifying condition.

The coroner to-day has been holding an inquest on the body of the late Thomas W. Gouverneur, who was shot dead at College Grove, on Friday night, by Theodore N. Treat, a sentry. After taking the evidence of several witnesses the case was adjourned until ten o'clock to-morrow. Opinions are divided as to the conduct of the sentry as to shooting deceased, and that he merely did his duty in accordance with the instructions of his officers.

There is considerable feeling in the city in regard to the conduct of the Republican insurance company in resolving to pay twenty-five cents on the dollar and disband. The company is claimed to have four millions of dollars capital, one million of which was paid in cash and the rest in notes against stockholders. They proposed to pay only cash on hand, but not to collect the notes. The policy-holders are refusing to receive the twenty-five per cent., and the company will probably suffer before the courts unless they pay up.

Rev. Wm. Alvin Bartlett, of Chicago, in an address last evening expressed the belief that although the loss will be between $200 000,000 and $300,000,000, Chicago might be made to look like herself for fifty millions. Men like William Ogden and George Smith had pledged their millions for immediate guarantee that the city shall be immediately rebuilt. There were one hundred and ten thousand homeless, roodless people to be taken care of until May, which will cost at least five millions, and require even all the immense supplies that have been subscribed.

Dismissed from Office.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.

Irwin was convicted of conspiring to extort illegal fees as a deputy sheriff, and was fined $50 and sent to prison for two months. The judge was very severe on public officers for their extortions and said: "I cannot close my eyes to the fact that it is part of a system of extortion which from a small beginning has grown to be a great evil, and one which is known to every lawyer and layman who has business with our public officers. To such an extent is this system carried that at the present day offices which require neither learning nor a previous course of study, nor even any considerable amount of personal attention, have become so lucrative that their emoluments seem in some instances to far exceed the salary of the President of the United States.

Resolutions were introduced Friday deprecating emigration to Siberia. Congressman Elliott, of South Carolina, submitted yesterday an address to the American people. It asks for more perfect recognition of the colored people in workshops, and all other industrial pursuits, that they may become proficient in mechanical sciences, and thereby protect skilled artisans from having to compete in market with workmen of inferior capability, and asks from Congress aid for the education of the poor children of the south. It demands one standard duty or policy for all citizens. It affirms the colored citizens have no desire to strike a line of action not common to the whole people, and concludes with the hope for the speedy abolition of slavery in every part of the world.

An Anchor to Windward.—It is good seamanship, when there is reason to expect heavy weather, to drop an anchor or to windward.

We are in the midst of the season of chills and fever. The sure preventive of this distressing malady is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. A course of that wholesome vegetable tonic will render an attack impossible. Take the hint and drop an anchor to windward.

Weak stomachs are most liable to be disordered into in the autumn when the changes of temperature are marked and frequent. Hostetter's Bitters fortifies the stomach against the effects of these variations. Let dyspeptics make a note of the fact, and drop an anchor to windward.

The liver is more sensitive when the weather is continually alternating between the warmth of summer and the cold of winter than at any other period of the year. This is peculiarly the season of such alterations. Let the bilious remember that Hostetter's Stomach Bitter's is essentially an anti-bilious medicine, and drop an anchor to windward.

The wisest plan is to forestall evil. The next best thing is to arrest it. For disorders of the stomach, irregularities of the bowels, and all periodical fevers, take, as soon as the complaint develops itself, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

A New School House.

Five years ago our columns teemed with discussions of the "school house system"—whether we should build one large graded Union school, or have smaller ones for each ward. At that period the city of Titusville seemed at a stand-still, real estate had depreciated and business was depressed. But there were those who had faith in the growth and permanence of our city, who combated and successfully the narrow-minded views and limited vision of those who could not share their confidence. And so the graded Union school was erected. It rapidly filled up like a cup at a fountain-head, and overflowed. A few years and another school house still more costly, equally spacious, perhaps, and certainly more imposing, was constructed and completed last year. The First and Second wards, if we designate the schools by their location, are now supplied with school edifices of the first class in respect to their accommodations and appointments. Still there was a call for more room, more room, for the growing population and rising generation of our city. A moderate-sized school building was erected in the Fourth ward, south of the creek, but this, too, is found insufficient in dimensions to meet the wants of the community. Still they come knocking at the door and demanding admission and facilities for education. Our common schools are essentially a popular institution. The rich may or may not patronize them, as they please, but support them they must. To the mechanic of moderate competence and to the laboring classes they are a necessity, and as the unconscious and silent teachers of the fundamental doctrine of social equality and a graduation of standing according to intellectual merit, our common schools are the very sheet anchor of Republican institutions, and no taxes that are judicially raised to their proper maintenance will be begrudged by any good citizen. We have not enough school-houses here, and we must show no partiality in their location, but aim to suit the wants and the convenience as well, of all sections of the city. The west end is without a school-house at all, and needs one imperatively. It is too long a distance for children of small growth to trudge from one end of the city to the other in all seasons and all weather. The west end has grown the past two years with magical rapidity. The sound of the hammer or the click of the trowel never ceases; new streets are opened not yet cleared of their stumps, and rows of houses, stores and shops, as well as dwellings, have risen on every hand, while the children flock and troop everywhere like birds in the first radiance of spring time. To permit children to idle their time and to play truant in the city's streets, is to expose their minds to all sorts of contamination. It is a common sight to see what adepts young lads become in mischief, and even vice, and how quickly they adopt slangy speech, and fall into the oaths and obscenity of blackguards, when they are permitted to run at large in a city, day and evening. And there is no doubt that many a youngster is a little vagabond because the city school houses are full to repletion, or because it is not convenient to attend it. We heartily wish that attendance at school by young persons were made compulsory by law, but let us have school houses enough so that there will be no excuse for non-attendance. Our schools to-day rank with the best in the state, and we are justly proud of them. We must keep up a high standard by employing the best of teachers, and strengthening their hands in their noblest of tasks, that of educating the young, and that the scholars of public schools may realize the public spare nothing that may tend to their advantage, that we watch their progress, and expect great things of them.

RELIEF ASSOCIATION.—We are requested to state that there will be a meeting of the Ladies' Relief Association at the lecture room of the Presbyterian church on Tuesday afternoon at half-past 2 o'clock. The object is to take measures for leasing and furnishing a suitable building, to be used for a city hospital. Circumstances require that such a convenience should be secured as soon as practicable.

NEW WELL AT PITHOLE.—We saw a dispatch Saturday from Pithole announcing the striking of a well upon Dawson Run, near that locality, which was doing three hundred barrels per day. If so, this opens up a comparatively new field for operations, and upon territory which has of late been considered of little value.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Alfred Whitty, correspondent of the London (England) Times is stopping at the Parshall House. Mr. W's visit to this country is for the purpose of writing up the oil regions for the Thunderer. He is also the representative of the London stockholders of the A. & G. W. railroad.

—Judge J. B Guthrie, of Pittsburg, is also a guest at the Parshall House.

—General J. S. Casement, the builder of the U. & T. R R, has been elected to the Ohio state senate from the Painesville district.

A MAN ACCIDENTALLY SHOOTS HIMSELF.—About three o'clock yesterday morning Mr. James W. Ryan, residing at the corner of Washington and Spring streets, took a revolver from the shelf to look for some papers, and not knowing the weapon was loaded, he accidentally discharged one of the barrels, the ball penetrating the right foot. Dr. Dunnigan probed the wound but failed to find the ball, which did not pass through the foot. Owing to the danger of lockjaw from cutting the parts, the doctor thinks it better to allow the ball to remain where it is.

ABUSING A HORSE.—Geo. Dohey was arraigned before Justice Strouse last Saturday on the charge of hiring a horse and buggy from A. O. Paul's livery stable, breaking the buggy, and racing the horse in such a manner as to render it unfit for further service. Mr. Paul placed his damages at $175. The prisoner was committed in default of $500 bail.

Precautions Against Fire—Water Works.

The Scientific American says: "The ruin which has befallen Chicago awaits every city, within whose bounds masses of wooden buildings stand, whenever a similar combination of circumstances arise." It mentions particularly the cities of Brooklyn, Jersey City, Newark and Patterson, N. J, and warns them of the danger of accumulating compact blocks of wooden structures, interspersed with their fine brick edifices, and fire proof buildings, which as illustrated in the fate of Chicago, would certainly share in the general ruin, the safety of this latter class of building depending entirely upon their surroundings.

The first duty, therefore, would appear to be to prohibit by city regulations and enactments the erection of wooden buildings, where valuable goods are stored, or in a neighborhood where large and valuable brick structures have been or are about to be erected. We think that this is the universal view taken of the subject by the press throughout the country, and in all probability their advice will be followed in most instances.

In Titusville we have a much better opportunity of adopting the necessary precautions, as there is scarcely any property in our principal streets on which is erected a frame building, that would not be pecuniarily benefited by substituting brick, and that to a much greater extent than would be the case in most of the older cities throughout the country. Fortunately the ordinance establishing fire limits prohibits the erection of any more frame buildings within a certain area, and as there is every probability of Titusville being largely increased in population within a few years, it might be judicious to extend these fire limits for several blocks in every direction, and prohibit the erection of frame buildings, except as isolated and independent structures for private dwellings. The erection of frame buildings for stores, contiguous to other property of the same description, should be entirely prohibited, as the destructive fires which occurred in Titusville in 1865 consumed entire blocks of this material. But a short time, we think, must elapse before the enhanced value of property will justify the complete removal of frame buildings by their owners in the central and business parts of the city, and the substitution of brick and mortar or other fire-proof structures. It is however practically impossible, in rapidly-growing cities, to extend any such regulations beyond a certain limit, as there must ever be a large accumulation of buildings of the most frail and combustible nature constantly going forward in those sections devoted to private residences. The best safeguard, therefore, would appear to consist in an abundant supply of water and an efficient fire department, and the introduction of such improvements for extinguishing or preventing the spread of fires as time and experience may suggest. We have an excellent fire department and adequate machinery, but our supply of water is very precarious. Without water-works we lack the very first essential element of safety. Our hills are surrounded with a superabundance of the purest water. Oil Creek Lake is only sixteen miles distant, and has a never failing supply of excellent water, and in fact all that is requisite is a determination on the part of property holders to have water works, and we shall have them. The large amount of money which our citizens munificently bestowed upon the Chicago sufferers is a very good indication of what they can do on an emergency for themselves. We are now laying sewer pipes through our principal streets, which gives us a pretty good idea of the tearing up which would become necessary if we delay the establishment of water works until after the wooden pavements are laid. This is the most economical as well as the most proper time to lay water pipes, and it is to be hoped that the necessary steps will immediately be taken with that end in view.

HEBREW RITE OF CONFIRMATION.—A very interesting ceremony took place last Saturday morning at the new Reformed Hebrew Temple on Franklin street Benjamin Strauss, son of Jacob Strauss, of this city, was confirmed according to the Mosaic dispensation, which requires that all male children arriving at the age of thirteen years shall be formally admitted by a confession of faith into the Hebrew church. The Rev. F. Jesselson officiated on the occasion. After the usual service of the Jewish Sabbath, which consists of prayer and reading a portion of the Pentateuch, the youth took a position opposite the altar and publicly signified his acceptance of the Hebrew faith. The ceremony consisted first of prayer, and then of a rigid catechising by the officiating clergyman, after which the father blessed his child, and the clergyman enjoined him to keep sacred the vows of his youth, and perform the duties of a true Israelite. There were quite a number of Gentiles present on the occasion. After the service the whole congregation were invited by Mr. Strauss to a festival, which was held at his residence on Walnut street, and continued till a late hour in the evening. The lad received the following presents: A $40 gold chain from his father; a $5 gold piece from his mother; a valuable diamond ring from his brother-in-law, Mr. Bendheim, and many gifts from other relatives of greater or less value.

CHICAGO SUFFERERS ON THEIR FEET IN TITUSVILLE.—The two refugees from Chicago, young Oppenheimer and Hirsh, who came here to seek work, have fallen among "good Samaritans," who have just crowded them with orders. They are stencil cutters. The Titusville Mills, good John Eason, gave them a marking plate order for his celebrated Graham Flour, Mr. Z Martin, Mansion House, discovered that he wanted some "checks for door keys," etc, etc. The boys are soliciting orders, and only ask the charity of work, at fair prices.

THE card of Fred. Bates & Co. will be read with interest. They are the oldest insurance house in the city. The veteran companies of which they have been agents here for the past eight years, to wit: the Ætna, the North American and the Home "still live," and only two of the seventeen companies they are agents for have gone down in the Chicago "crash," to wit: the "Security" and the "Norwich."

COLORED CALICO BALL.—Our respected colored friend, Deacon Hopkins, is on the carpet again this season with a calico ball, to be given at Lowry's hall on Tuesday (to-morrow) evening. Harris' orchestra furnish the music. Dancing tickets $2, and spectators' tickets 50 cents. This is Mr. Hopkins' fifth annual ball; he is the oldest man in the business, and his entertainments are invariably successful.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE convenes at Hydetown to-day, and will continue in session during the week, under the direction of Mr. H. D. Persons, County Superintendent of Schools.

Oil News.

THE NEW WELL AT DAWSON CENTRE. A gentleman who visited the McLaughlin well at Dawson Centre, yesterday, states that it was flowing fully sixty barrels through two pipes from the casing. The oil comes in a steady stream, and the well is rated by some at over one hundred barrels, but sixty is said to be a fair estimate. The territory is owned by Alexander and John Brown, of Pleasantville. Mr. McLaughlin, the owner of the well, is also a resident of Pleasantville. This strike will revive the oil fever in that locality.

—A special dispatch to the HERALD on Saturday morning announces a new flowing well at Holmes Park, on Barren Ridge.

The Collins Bros., of Titusville, are the fortunate owners of a new well that is giving forty barrels a day and increasing. It is situated on State run, near Sage run, some three miles from Oil City.—Derrick

The Germer well, No. 2, on the Robinson farm, Parker's Landing, is now doing seventy-five barrels per day. It is owned by Otto Germer (a brother of Dr. Germer of Erie), Shakely and Harrop. The Doctor says seventy-five barrels a day is a much healthier business than doctoring.—Dispatch.

—The Olean, N. Y. Times says: What at first seemed a mere conjecture and speculation with regard to finding of oil in the town of Carrollton in this county, turns out to be something of permanent value and importance. If there is any truth in geology, people have good reason to anticipate good flowing wells in that section. The success of the oil wells at Limestone, in this county, which have been in operation for several years, has had the effect to draw special attention to that district of late. Bradford county, Pa., south of Carrollton, is one of the most famous oil producing tracts in the oil regions. The conglomerate rock is found in great abundance and various dimensions, scattered all over the region, and the pebble rock, mixed with white sand, is conspicuous on the roadside, the fields, the hill-tops, and the ravines. The topography of the lands in Bradford and McKean counties, Pennsylvania, corresponds, in a striking manner, with those of those sections of Limestone and Carrolton, in this county, where oil has been indicated and found. We have no doubt but that good paying wells might be sunk in those sections of Cattaraugus referred to, and we hoped to see the matter fully tested, and the oil existing in strata beneath the surface of those regions brought out.

A letter from Parker's Landing to the Oil City Derrick has the following items:

There is considerable excitement just now leading towards Martinsburg. A well was struck on the Robert Black farm, a half mile north of Martinsburg on Monday, and started up at the rate of sixty barrels. This well belongs to Campbell, Borland and others.

Another well in the valley of Bear Creek, near the stone house, is doing some twenty-five barrels.

A well, also near the stone house, is in the second sand, and is flowing to the full height of the derrick. These new strikes have determined the line south, and I look for a great scramble for territory.

BULLY HILL OIL MATTERS.—At present there are three good pumping wells on Bully Hill, located as follows: On the Stroman farm, one owned by Prentice, Crawford, Barbour & Co, doing forty barrels daily; one on the Ryle farm, owned by the same parties, doing forty barrels daily, and one on the Pope farm, owned by Painter Bros, doing at least thirty barrels and increasing. This last one was torpedoed last week, previous to which time she was pumping about six barrels a day. A well on the James Foster farm, which pumped about a barrel a day, was torpedoed on last Tuesday. The indications are good. She will probably be pumping on Thursday morning.

Well No. 46, on the Reno farm was tubed and commenced pumping Monday. An average yield of about twenty barrels a day is expected therefrom.

NITRO GLYCERINE ACCIDENTS.—Two more accidents resulting from the careless handling of this dangerous explosive occurred last week. A man named Wm. Welton was severely injured by the explosion of an electric fuse in the North Adams factory. The palms of his hands were dreadfully lacerated, and his breast filled with fragments of copper, producing an appearance like a heavy charge of small shot.

Another accident occurred at the west shaft of the Hoosac tunnel, by which Terry Columbus, a miner, was instantly killed, and Reuben Bottrell was severely injured; Richard Stafford was also injured about the face, but not dangerously. Columbus was assisting in "picking out," that is, drawing the charge, from a powder hole which had not exploded, and while his companion, who was in charge of the operation, had stepped a few paces away to fetch a keg of water, the deceased recommenced work in the hole, which instantly exploded. Bottwell's right arm was amputated at the elbow by Dr. H. J. Millard, assisted by G. L. Rice. The arm was also fractured above the elbow. Bottwell's eyes were destroyed. Twenty-two miners in the shaft at the time escaped uninjured

GEO J. LUCE'S GROCERY HOUSE.—One of the handsomest and best appointed groceries in the city is that of Geo. J. Luce, successor to Collins & Porter, in Odd Fellows Block. The large salesroom, with its neat fixtures and elegant display of fancy groceries, presents a pleasing and attractive appearance, and a glance at the tons of groceries in the storeroom gives assurance of the completeness of the stock and some idea of the business of the concern. The stock embraces every article known to the trade in fancy and staple groceries, as also in the general provision trade. Every article offered to customers is warranted to be of the purest to be found in the market, and all sales are based upon the lowest cash prices. Mr. Luce calls particular attention to the superior quality of his teas, having in store the best brands at as reasonable prices as can be found in any tea house west of New York

NEW MINSTREL TROUPE COMING.—A novelty in the form of a performance by Messrs. Kernan & Rankin's Hibernian Minstrels will be presented to our citizens on next Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The organization of the troupe is after the style of the burnt cork boys, the first part being made up of songs, end jokes, etc., while the after part is filled up with dances, clogs, and burlesques. The troupe present the burlesque of Lurline in an excellent manner. Our citizens will welcome these new comers with joy. Messrs. Kernan & Rankin have been out six weeks now, traveling through the eastern states, and have met with unparalleled success. Mr. W. R Hayden, the gentlemanly agent of the troupe, was in town Saturday making arrangements.

STEAM LAUNDRY.—Try the Titusville Steam Laundry this week. Call at the office over Goodwin's City Hotel, leave your address and your soiled clothes will be called for, and in a few days delivered to you again, neatly marked and properly laundried.

AN EXPENSIVE PLUG OF TOBACCO.—A man named Mike McDermott entered Henry Kaldenbach's cigar store on Saturday night and stole a plug of tobacco. He then showed fight and was badly beaten. He was finally arrested and fined $25 and costs by Justice Strouse.

THE best place in town to buy drugs, chemicals, pomades, perfumery, etc., is at the "old stand," Crane, Griffes & Co's.

Lecture by Prof. Mowbray.

The North Adams (Mass) Transcript states that a paper on Nitro-Glycerine was read by our former townsman, Prof. Geo. M. Mowbray, Oct. 17th, before the members and visitors of Albany Institute, and was listened to by the most crowded seance of the season. The Transcript says:

The force of various explosives, the differing velocities of explosions, as adapted for projectiles and for blasting purposes, were plainly elucidated, but perhaps the most interesting part of the paper, if we may judge from the faces of the audience, was the description of the step by step experiments, accidents and investigations by which the Professor, during the past five years, has attained control of this too much feared power. These were happily described and illustrated to the members who are thoroughly competent to follow the subject matter throughout. The president expressed the feelings of those present, when he stated, that it was the negligence, carelessness and rashness of men in handling such great forces, and neglecting to observe the rules laid down by those who had taken their lives in their hand, in order to discover the properties of this explosive, rather than the explosive itself, which caused the accidents that from time to time shock the community, and there seemed a unanimous assent to the observation, that in such a great work as the Hoosac tunnel, the scientific world had reason to be gratified, in that the enterprise of the contractors, Messrs. F. Shanly & Co., undaunted by popular prejudice, has furnished the opportunity of extensive experiment, to one who had manifestly done his work thoroughly, without any shirking from the perilous task, and seemed determined to develop understandingly the properties and conditions of explosion of nitro-glycerine under every phase. The deft handling of this hitherto dreaded explosive and the striking experiments, at the table, created quite a sensation for the occupants of the crowded benches. A resolution to publish the paper in the proceedings of the institute, was passed, and a vote appointing the professor, a corresponding member of the institute having been taken, after a colation and some routine business the members separated expressing to each other in groups, no doubtful opinion as to the future of nitro-glycerine under intelligent management.

IMPORTANT RAILWAY CASE.—In 1868 the Erie Railway Company and the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad Company made a contract with James Densmore and G. W. N. Yost for the transportation of petroleum in tank-cars at a certain price for one year. Plaintiffs allege that, after keeping the contract for three months the companies deliberately broke it by refusing to carry any more oil for plaintiffs except at much higher rates. In 1860 the plaintiffs brought suit for damages in the Court of Common Pleas. By a peculiar law in this state either party to a suit may rule it out of court before three arbitrators; and the party against whom the arbitrators decide, in order to rule it back into court, must give an ample bond, to be approved by the appellate court. In this case, last March, the arbitrators made a very large award against the companies, who appealed to the court, and were bonded in the sum of $100,000. The excellence of such practice is evident whenever the defendants are "hard to catch," and whenever it is better to have an ample "bond" to sue upon, than to "attach" locomotives or other property. Last week the case was compromised by the acceptance of "a check in five figures," by Mr. Clayton, of New York, in behalf of the plaintiffs.

MANAGEMENT OF THE A. & G W RAILROAD.—We are very much pleased to announce that our former townsman, H. F Sweetser, Esq, has been placed in the position of general manager of the Atlantic & Great Western railroad. To those who know Mr. Sweetser as well as Corry people and railroad men generally all over the country do, it is apparent that this appointment "means business," and that the interests of the road could not be in better hands—knowing, as he does, the crooks and turns of railroad management; and the most thorough way of doing business It was his excellent management that brought the Oil Creek road to its apex of prosperity, and kept for it the monopoly of the business at good rates but fair to everybody. And the fact is fully shown by the number of roads now building to take from the Oil Creek road the business it had, a matter which in Mr. Sweetser's administration was prevented.—Corry Blade.

Mr. Sweetser entered upon the discharge of his duties on Saturday at Meadville. Mr. Sweetser has been for many years prominently identified with railroad interests, and possesses superior qualifications for the position to which he is now assigned. The benefits of his ripe experience will soon be manifest in the improved practical management of the A. & G. W. railway.

THE Morris Bros.' minstrels, from the Morris Opera-house, Boston, will give two of their inimitable performances at the Parshall Opera-house on Friday and Saturday evenings, 27th and 28th. The fame of this troupe is world-wide, and wherever they appear they create a furore. We take the following notice from the Sunday Mercury from the pen of its Lynn, Mass., correspondent:

The Morris Bros. opened the fall and winter season at the opera-house on Saturday evening, Aug. 26th, to $536 35, which promises well for the future. The show was good, the first part being the best we have heard for a long time. The vocal and instrumental music, under the direction of Prof. C. Lavalle (late of the San Francisco minstrels), was rendered in a very acceptable manner.

A SUPPOSED BURGLAR.—John Brown, residing on Mechanic, near Monroe street, observed a man endeavoring to break into the Morey House at the unseasonable hour of two o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Brown fired a pistol at the supposed robber from his bedroom window, and immediately rushed to the front door for the purpose of securing him, but the night prowler had fled. It is not known whether the shot took effect or not.

THE Young Men's Christian Association, through their secretary, have entered into correspondence with Wendell Phillips, Petroleum V. Nasby, Anna E. Dickinson, and other celebrated lecturers, for the purpose of securing their services to deliver a course of lectures in Petroleum Centre during the coming winter. The movement is a good one, and should receive the hearty support and encouragement of all, irrespective of political or religious belief. By all means let us have a course of lectures.—Pet Centre Record.

FOR good, solid, substantial, satisfying reading in the evening after a hard day's work, commend us after all to that staunch, reliable old paper, the Titusville HERALD, "the first daily paper in the oil region." The selections on its first page are always appropriate to the time; the dispatches are complete; the editorials are sound, well-written and command the respect of all thinking men.—Oil City Bulletin.

THE air brakes, on the Erie mail train of the Philadelphia & Erie road, saved a general wreck last Thursday morning, at Irvineton. A freight train was standing on the track, and being very foggy, Pat Tinley, the engineer, did not see it until within a few yards of it. By reversing the engine and applying the brakes no other harm was done but knocking the pilot off. Under the old plan of calling out the brakemen, a smash-up would have occurred.—Dispatch.

A LARGE stock of tooth, hair, nail, hat and flesh brushes just received at Crane Griffes & Co.'s.

THE dwelling of Mr. Stephen Horn was entered by burglars last Tuesday night, and a gold watch, valued at $350, and about $200 in cash, was taken. Mr. Horn lives about midway between Garland and Spring Creek, two miles and a half from either place.

The General Insurance Agency of F. Bates & Co, established in 1863, still lives, notwithstanding the great fires in the oil regions in 1865, the Portland fire in 1866, and the Chicago fire in 1871.

We do not advertise "Solvent Companies" that didn't have sufficient respectability to be known in Chicago, and of course had no losses there. Nor do we say "unembarrassed," for "we think we are hit." But if our customers, or any parties will bring us their insurance policies we will tell them what is good and what is not, and will try to protect them in the future as well as we have during the eight years past. THE BELLS.

Edgar A. Poe must have had a vision of Chicago on fire, when he wrote his poem, "The Bells."
Hear the loud alarum bells—
Brazen bells!
What a tale of terror now, their turbulency tells!
In the startled ear of night
How they scream out their affright!
Too much horrified to speak,
They can only shriek, shriek,
Out of tune,
In a clamorous appealing to the mercy of the fire,
In a mad expostulation with the deep and frantic fire,
Leaping higher, higher, higher,
With a desperate desire
And a resolute endeavor,
Now—now to sit or never,
By the side of the pale-faced moon.
Oh, the bells, bells, bells,
What a tale their terror tells
Of despair.
How they clang, and clash and roar,
What a horror they outpour
In the bosom of the palpitating air!"

THE EVANS

PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY,

(LATE OF BUFFALO)

Kingsland Block, Franklin Street,

TITUSVILLE, PA.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. EVANS

Respectfully announce to the public that their GALLERY IS NOW OPEN, and solicit the patronage of those desiring

Artistic Pictures,

But to those wishing white, lifeless pictures, this establishment offers no inducements, which are in direct violation of the rules and principles of art, and shock the taste of every cultivated mind.

The Beautiful IVORY-TYPE is Mrs. Evans' Great Specialty.

And for the first time introduced into the oil country. The Ivory-Types and Exquisite Porcelain Pictures cannot fail to satisfy the most fastidious taste.

Persons heretofore having unsatisfactory pictures are particularly invited.

Particular attention paid to the Photographing of Children.

Mrs. EVANS will be happy to suggest anything she may think proper in dress, position or picture.

Rooms Open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m.

[COMPLIMENTARY.]
BUFFALO, January 23, 1871

Understanding that Mrs. O. B. Evans, of this city, is about to take up her professional residence in Auburn for a time, I take great pleasure in stating that I have known Mrs. Evans for some years as a Daguerreotypist and Photographer who ranks among the first in the world for artistic taste and skill. I sincerely hope that she may be as successful at her new residence as she has been in this city.

SUCKER-ROD JOINTS.

Explanation of Cuts.

No. 1--Represents the Joint Complete. No. 2--A longitudinal sectional view of a full Joint, showing the position of the wood in the socket when wedged, a glance at which must convince the most skeptical of the superiority of this Joint over any other No. 3--A view of the end of the Rod, when turned ready for the socket to be driven on, with the slot for the wedge and the wedge about being entered. No. 4--Represents the end of the wood, and shows the proper way to saw the slot (across the grain) into which the wedge is to be driven.

The above description and accompanying cuts will enable any skilled person to make connection at the wells in a much shorter time than can be done with any other Rod all the tools required being a small fine saw, one of our hollow augurs and a few of our wedges. The wedges can be procured at any hardware store gratis.
